SAYS RIVAL FOUND POLE

A Great Difference Between Capt. Peary And Capt. Amundsen

ENGLAND IS MUCH EXCITED.

Gap Of 100 Miles At Last Traversed By Capt. Scott.

London, March 8—Cables from New Zealand announcing that Capt. Scott had found the South Pole come as a starting climax to the race which five explorers of different nationalities have been making to reach this final extremity of the globe.

Capt. Robert Falcon Scott started on his expedition from Port Chalmers, New Zealand, on November 29, 1910. He was well equipped for this dash for the farthest south, having made a previous expedition under the direction of the Royal Geographical Society. At that time he attained a record of 82 degrees 30 minutes, which remained the record up to the time of Lieutenant Shackleton's notable exploit. Shackleton pushed further south, and in 1907 reached 88 degrees 23 minutes, or about 100 miles from the South Pole. This remained the record and inspired the hardy navigators of many nations to attempt the culminating feat of reaching the pole itself.

Captain Scott took the route by way of Australia and New Zealand. He sailed due south into Ross sea, a great stretch of water reaching toward the South Pole. His chief competitor in this dash was Captain Amundsen, who is commissioned by the King of Norway and the Norwegian government.

Amundsen chose the route by way of South America. He left Buenos Ayres toward the close of 1910.

Captain Amundsen has arrived at Hobart, Tasmania, on the steamer Fram, and according to the first word from that port he declared that Captain Scott had reached the pole.

GALBREATH ON THE STAND

The Mill Case Is Still Occupying The Entire Time Of Court

NEARING ARGUMENT STAGE

Prosecution Closed At Noon Thursday And Legal Argument Followed.

The prosecution closed about noon Thursday in the trial of J. B. Galbreath, former secretary of the Acme Mills.

Gen. Breathitt for the defense moved to dismiss the indictment on the plea that the sum of money alleged to have been embezzled by Mr. Galbreath had been shown by the expert accountant Fisher to have been left to Mr. Galbreath's credit on the books of the mill and never in fact drawn out. This point was argued at length, the jury being sent out. Judge Hanbery overruled the motion on the ground that the offense if committed at all, was committed by the act of declaring the dividend, and that the amount of the dividend ceased to be the property of the mill and was a private fund that Mr. Galbreath could have drawn out at any time, and further that any money subsequently drawn for any purpose by Mr. Galbreath may have been a part of the dividend unlawfully declared. This question passed upon, the jury was brought back and the defense began with Mr. Galbreath the first witness on the stand.

Mr. Galbreath did not conclude his testimony until 4 p.m. yesterday. He has summoned a large number of prominent citizens as character witnesses. R. H. DeTreville is here on a parole from Eddyville, to be used as a witness by the Commonwealth.

CUTTING CASE.

One Man Receives Three Knife Wounds.

In a difficulty between Claud Alsbrook and Hilliard Marbutt, at the former's home, one mile west of Crofton Tuesday, Alsbrook was cut three times with a pocket knife. One gash was on the side of his neck, one above the right eye and one in the hand. The wounds are not considered dangerous. The men were arrested and taken before Esq. B. F. Fuller, who held over Marbutt on a charge of malicious cutting and Alsbrook on a charge of breach of the peace. The men furnished bond and the affair will be investigated by the grand jury. Marbutt's bondsmen withdrew and he was later placed in jail. The men are brothers-in-law, Marbutt having married Alsbrook's sister.
